

Elizabeth J. Craig, DNP, CRNP, FACHE
Chief Nursing Officer
Pennsylvania Hospital

Elizabeth J. Craig, DNP, RN, FACHE is currently the Chief Nursing Officer of Pennsylvania Hospital-Penn Medicine. She has over 30 years of broad-based clinical nursing, nurse leadership, and operations experience, from community based hospitals to large, academic medical centers. As a seasoned leader, she has lead team to achieve Magnet Designation. Elizabeth has a proven track record of results in patient quality, employee and patient safety, and patient satisfaction. She is a strong leader with a reputation of integrity, who has built cohesive teams, participated in strategic planning and clinical program development to create a culture of nursing excellence.

After completing her Diploma in Nursing from St. Agnes Medical Center, Elizabeth received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Villanova University. She continued her education to receive a Master of Science from the University of Pennsylvania with a Women's Health Nurse Practitioner Certification. In 2014, Elizabeth received a Doctorate in Nursing Practice from Thomas Jefferson University. She is a Fellow in the American College of Health Care Executives and currently serves as the President of the Pennsylvania Organization of Nurse Leaders and Chair Emeritus of the Southeastern Region of Nurse Leaders.